

Dubai Ideas Competition, Sustainable Urban Development

December 8, 2017

HMW participated in an ideas competition for the creation of a world class city sub-centre in Dubai promoting new concepts in sustainable urban development.

The proposed human-scaled urban district provides a high quality of life, entertainment, public transport and walkable neighborhoods within a synergistic mix of uses, creating distinct and interconnected precincts. HMW's submission focused on informing the district's open space character and identity by the native Arabian Peninsula plant communities and indigenous landscape context.
